

Software Release for Centralized Device Management

New Change Management & Notification Features

Purpose

Centralized Device Management (CDM) now provides notifications that allow customers to track when and what was changed on their consoles, and by whom. Work orders can be verified with work done. Additionally, when console communication is lost, customers will be notified allowing for quicker resolution of any failed CDM tasks.

New Features

- Capture console setup changes in CDM.
- Query a centralized database of changes, by Date/Time, Multiple Categories, Console ID, Username and Search for specific text strings.
- Capture lost console communications, failed CDM plans and CDM software restarts.
- Notify users hourly or daily via email of console changes and CDM specific events.

Change Management

Supports TLS-450PLUS and TLS4 Series Consoles

Change Management and Notifications require the console to be running with software version 10.C or later. Note: CDM can be used to upgrade consoles to version 10.C software.
